

Applied Economic Clinic's work on energy efficiency in Indiana

Bryndis Woods

Applied Economics Clinic Researcher

www.aeclinic.org

Applied Economics Clinic Researcher Bryndis Woods will discuss the Clinic's work with Citizens Action Coalition in Indiana to estimate the impacts of the repeal of their statewide energy efficiency resource standard. Bryndis' work indicated that, since the repeal, energy efficiency savings have declined, which has cost ratepayers millions of dollars and thousands of jobs.

Brown Bag Lunch Series

Bring your lunch and join us:

Tuesday, October 23
12:30-1:30

Cabot 206, The Fletcher School
160 Packard Ave, Medford, MA

Global Development And Environment Institute
at Tufts University

